Red Army Closes In Swiftly From South Toward Caucasus Gateway

LAST RESISTANCE AT STALINGRAD ENDS

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)
MOSCOW, Feb. 3.—The Caucasus gateway city of Rostov was brought under shell fire from Soviet big guns today as the Red army closed in swiftly from the south.

Russian artillery batteries were brought up to begin a siege of the Nazi-held oil refining center less than 24 hours after the last vestige of German resistance at Stalingrad was wiped out by victorious Soviet defenders.

Batter At City
Front dispatches received in Moscow said that as Russian tank and infantry forces neared Rostov big artillery guns began battering the outer perimeter of the city's defenses from the south.

As the barrage of steel was unleashed against the Nazi fortifications the Soviet air force struck a heavy blow at the German airbase at Voroshilovgrad, 95 miles to the north, in an obvious effort to knock out the base from which German planes might be sent to aid the defense forces at Rostov.

Fifteen Nazi planes were destroyed on the ground at the airport while the Soviet fliers destroyed eight Nazi craft in a resultant dog fight.

Noon Communique
The official communique issued at noon by the Soviet high command reported steady advances all along the front before Rostov and announced widespread gains elsewhere in the Caucasus and on the Ukraine front while the Russians are driving on the key cities of Kharkov and Kursk.

British Eighth Army Near Tunisian Border

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Britain's victorious Eighth Army advanced in force today to within 22 miles of the Tunisian border, constantly battering the Axis rearguard with heavy artillery fire.

Forward patrols of the British already were across the frontier from Libya where they probed at the German and Italian defenses in the vicinity of the Mareth line.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's mechanized forces, after occupying the town of Zetun, below the coast road 15 miles west of the Tripolitanian Port of Zuara, moved in close pursuit of Gen. Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps continuing to withdraw in the direction of Pisdia.

Report Churchill Says Turkey Has Now Lost Fear Of Nazi Germany

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—British Prime Minister Winston Churchill today is understood to have reported to President Roosevelt that Turkey has lost its fear of Germany.

Authoritative sources said Churchill gathered this definite impression from his conference with President Ismet Inonu.

Churchill is understood to have sent a report to the President on his talks with the Turkish leaders all but immediately after he returned to Cairo from Turkey.

As a result of the Churchill-Inonu talks, the view prevails in authoritative quarters that Turkey still wishes to maintain neutrality in the world conflict, but is determined to fight if Hitler attempts to move through Turkish territory in a drive into the near East.

There also is a strong belief in official and diplomatic quarters that Turkey will now fight even if the Germans should attempt to bypass that country with a sea-borne invasion into Syria.

The new understanding reached between Great Britain and Turkey is seen as padlocking the back-door of the Allied position in the Eastern Mediterranean.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The nation's first lady, as a mother whose own sons are scattered across the world's battle fronts, today received Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, the Waterloo, Iowa, couple whose five sailor sons disappeared with the cruiser Juneau in the Solomons.

This was a quiet meeting at the White House. Reporters and photographers were not included as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt personally greeted the parents who, shedding their mourning, are to start a tour of war plants to urge increased production of planes and guns.

From the executive mansion, the Sullivans continued to the capitol where Vice President Henry A. Wallace welcomed them.

Rationing Of Canned Goods Starts March 1

Point System To Be Effective—Register During Week Of February 22

MEAT RATIONING MAY BE STARTED

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—American consumers today stood a good chance of having an "average" of about 11 cans of fruits and vegetables per person next month under the point-rationing system going into effect March 1.

Indications were that the 48 "points" which each individual will have available to "spend" on the more than 200 rationed items during March will permit the purchase of around six cans of food per person, plus an allowable inventory of five cans each.

Points Not Yet Determined
OPA officials emphasized, however, that the point values for the various foods will not be determined until after all retail sales are halted at midnight February 20. Every item will have the same point value in every store in the country.

Hence, some individuals may be able to purchase more than six cans of food by selecting items less scarce and with a lower point value.

"Stretching" the 48 points further. Registration of consumers for war ration book No. 2, which also will be used later to ration meat, will take place during the week-long "freeze" on sales at sites to be announced in each community by local rationing boards.

Meat Rationing Soon
OPA officials said "tentative plans called for institution of meat rationing also in March. A spokesman said that "we're pushing it along as fast as possible."

Printing of war ration book No. 3 also is being speeded. It may be used to obtain dairy products and fats and oils.

A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, Feb. 3.—A rescue at sea paralleling that of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker was revealed today with announcement that Brig. Gen. N. F. Twining, commander of the United States 13th Air Force, his party of five and a Flying Fortress crew of nine have been picked up after being afloat six nights and five days in the Coral Sea.

The 15 men were rescued and brought to a base hospital Feb. 1. They were crowded into two six-man rubber rafts when they were discovered by two Flying Fortresses. Their plane became lost and ran out of gas over the Coral Sea 200 miles southwest of the base following a flight from Guadalcanal.

With Gen. Twining, whose home is in Charlotte, N. C., where Col. Glen C. Jamison, his chief of staff of Washington, D. C., and four others whose names have not yet been revealed.

The plane was piloted by a Captain Woodruff.

The rescue was effected by two navy Catalina flying boats after the fortresses spotted the rubber craft drifting at sea.

Heavy Damage Award Is Made

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 3.—Raymond W. Dunnire, Vandergift undertaker, today was awarded $22,500 damages in what was believed to be the largest verdict ever returned for personal injuries in the history of Westmoreland county.

Dunnire won his suit against W. V. Fitzgerald, Vandergift garage owner, not only for the second time, but also increased its value. In November, 1941, he was awarded $12,000, but Dunnire appealed and won a new trial.

His suit was based on alleged injuries received in May, 1940, when gasoline being poured into the motor of a rented hearse exploded and caught fire, severely burning the lower part of his body.

CHICAGO POLICE HUNT GIRL SLAYER

Body Of Model Found In Apartment After Fire Was Discovered

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Police sought today the slayer of a beautiful, auburn-haired photographer's model whose battered and slashed body was found in her flame-swept apartment by firemen who broke in the door.

The victim was Miss Estelle Evelyn Carey, 34, former friend of Nick Cicarella, alias Nick Dean, gangster and labor racketeer, now serving an eight-year term in federal prison for conspiracy to extort more than a million dollars from motion picture executives.

Savagely Beaten
The murderer had beaten the young woman savagely, slashed her throat and then had attempted to burn her body by setting a fire in the apartment. Firemen extinguished the blaze.

Her body lay on the dining room floor. Her lips had been smashed by the beating she received and there were five cuts and bruises on her face. Her nose was broken.

The struggle apparently had started in the kitchen where bloodstains were found on the sink and the kitchen cabinet.

In spite of the terrific beating, Dr. Thomas A. Carter, coroner's physician, said death evidently was caused not by these injuries, but by the flames and smoke fumes inhaled while she lay unconscious on the floor.

Cologne Is Bombed By British Airmen

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 3.—The German Rhineland city of Cologne, target of the first 1,000-plane raid by the British Royal Air Force, was bombed during the night, the air ministry announced today.

The official communique termed the attack on the Cathedral city as heavy.

Because of the forcefulness of the attack the Press Association described it as a "thunderbolt raid."

Concentrated Attack
An important port on the Rhine city, Cologne is one of the chief cities in western Europe and a center of war production.

The bombing was a concentrated attack. One hundred block busters—4,000 pound bombs—and many thousands of incendiaries were dropped on Cologne in an elapsed time of less than 20 minutes.

Four of the British bombers were lost in the attack.

Following the return of the bomber force from the Rhineland the air war across the English channel was continued with the R. A. F. soaring out to attack objectives on the continent and the Nazi air force staging a series of small hit and run raids.

The German planes struck inland. Many houses were destroyed in one southeast coast town. Rest centers were opened to care for those made homeless while rescue parties sought persons trapped in wreckage.

Giant four-motored Halifax and Lancaster bombers formed the bulk of the attacking planes. One 4,000 pound bomb fell on an average of every 12 seconds.

Wife Of Socially Prominent Sportsman Jailed After Husband Wounded, Friend Killed

(International News Service)
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3.—A 31-year-old former beer tavern employee who gained social rank by becoming the third wife of a socially prominent Maryland sportsman, was in jail tonight on charges she fatally shot a high school youth and wounded her husband as a climax to an argument over "family skeletons."

Secretary Knox Says Major Battle Not In Progress

Clashes In Pacific Area "Feeling Out Process" He Tells Reporters

"SOME LOSSES" HAVE BEEN SUSTAINED

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said today that the current engagement in the Solomons between American and Japanese sea and air forces has not yet developed into a major battle but is a "process of feeling out by both sides."

"It is not a pitched battle," the secretary stated at his first press conference since returning from the South Pacific war zone, where he visited Guadalcanal and many other areas.

"No one knows what the future will hold, but any assumption that a tremendous battle is in progress is incorrect."

Several times during the conference, Knox appeared a trifle irritated by persistent questioning of reporters on details of the action.

The secretary explained that for security reasons the Navy had decided not to give out any more information at present other than the brief communique which merely said that a series of surface and air actions had occurred and that both sides had suffered "some losses."

"The Japs are on a fishing expedition and we aren't going to tell them anything," Knox emphasized.

Haley On Alert
Knox said it was safe to assume that the American commander, Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., is very much on the alert.

He repeated an assertion made at Pearl Harbor recently that the Japanese have abandoned attempts to push reinforcements and supplies into Guadalcanal.

"The situation is in splendid condition down there (on Guadalcanal)," Knox said.

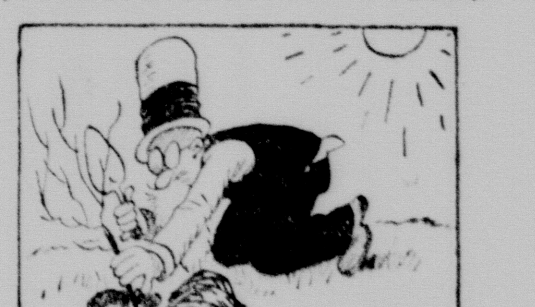

The secretary stated that when he visited the island the Japanese were beginning to surrender to American forces, intimating that organized Japanese resistance was over on the island.

He expressed regret that the im-

May Need To Draft "Essential Men"

Huge Army Need Brings Problems

Men Employed In "Essential" Activities May Be Called Into Service

GOAL OF 10,000,000 IN ARMY THIS YEAR

By WILLIAM ZIMMERMAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—War Manpower Commission sources predicted today that it will be necessary to "tap heavily" into the rolls of men employed in "essential" activities to fill the nation's goal of 10,000,000 men in the armed forces this year.

One WMC spokesman said that a 3-B classification—an employee of an "essential" industry who is not a "necessary man" within the industry—was no guarantee of prolonged deferment from military service, although declining to speculate when such men might be called.

Re-Classify Non-Essential Jobs

He pointed out that the supply of 1-A registrants already is virtually exhausted, except for the 100,000 youth who become 18 years of age each month, and that in many states married men with wives only already are being called.

It was explained, however, that before 3-B men are drafted, local boards will reclassify and call men who remain in non-essential jobs despite the WMC's action yesterday in listing some 70 occupations and activities which will be "non-deferred," even to men with dependents, after April 1.

Officials indicated that the original list of "non-deferred" occupations may be broadened within two weeks. WMC Chief Paul V. McNutt, in announcing the first list, said that it was "just the beginning."

for canned goods rationing during the six days beginning February 22, restaurants, hotels, hospitals and other "institutional" users will not register until the first 10 days of March.

Retail stores and wholesalers of the rationed foods will be required to report the amount of business done during March and their inventories as of March 31. On this basis each will receive an official "allowable inventory" in points.

One Member Can Register

One member of a family may register for all other members by presenting a copy of war ration book 1 for each person. At the time of registration, consumers will have to declare the amounts of coffee on hand last November 28—when coffee rationing started—and of canned goods on hand February 21—the first day of the "freeze."

In the case of coffee, one stamp will be removed from war ration book 1 for each pound above the allowable inventory of one pound for each person 14 years of age or older.

One eight-point blue stamp will be deducted from war ration book No. 2 for each can of food over the allowable limit of five cans per individual, although housewives will not have to declare cans containing less than eight ounces. The "pastry census," however, must include all commercially canned fruits, vegetables, juices, soups, chili sauce and catsup.

Stamp Proportions

In order that no person will be entirely without stamps during any ration period, not more than half the total number of blue stamps will be removed from any ration book at any one time. Where food supplies are owned by families, rather than single individuals, the deductions will be divided among the books of all members of the family.

The following need not be counted or declared: canned olives, canned meat and fish, pickles, relish, jellies, jams and preserves, spaghetti, macaroni and noodles, or home canned foods.

During March each individual will have three eight-point stamps, three five-point stamps, three two-point stamps and three one-point stamps—totaling 48 points—to "spend."

Points for April will be announced around March 15.

Each grocery will be required to display the official table of point values of the various foods.

Much Speculation

There has been a good deal of speculation concerning the danger of Hitler launching a surprise drive in the near East to threaten the Allied position in Egypt while the British Eighth army is engaged in Tripoli and Tunisia.

Despite the absence of the British Eighth army from Egypt, authoritative sources believe the Germans would get a warm reception from other British, American and Turkish forces if they attempt any such move.

The American and British governments are understood to have felt for more than a year now that Turkey would fight if Hitler invaded that country. However, there has been some uncertainty as to what the Turks would do if the Germans by-passed that country in a seaborne invasion of Syria. That uncertainty has now been removed as a result of the Churchill-Inonu talks.

SECRETARY KNOX SAYS MAJOR BATTLE NOT IN PROGRESS

pression had spread a major engagement was in progress off the Solomon Islands.

"But Mr. Secretary, the communiqué said that both sides had suffered some losses and when one speaks of losses it means that a pretty good fight has been in progress," a reporter said.

"I don't want to say any more than I have already said," Knox replied.

Jap Claims Exaggerated

Except for Japanese claims which have been branded by a U. S. Naval spokesman as "grossly exaggerated," little is known of the action which began nearly a week ago, presumably near Rennell Island, 100 miles south of Guadalcanal.

Tokyo said the "battle of Rennell Island" began last Thursday (Washington date) and that two American battleships and three cruisers were sunk in the opening phase, but no claim was made of a decisive victory. The Navy merely admitted "some losses" on both sides.

Importance of the latest engagement was indicated by the Navy communiqué which stated that "the increased activity on the part of the Japanese indicates a major effort to regain control of the Solomon Islands."

Since both sides have been pouring reinforcements into the South Pacific during the past few months the newest battle may well prove to be, or develop into, the greatest sea-air engagement in the history of modern warfare.

There has been a good deal of speculation concerning the danger of Hitler launching a surprise drive in the near East to threaten the Allied position in Egypt while the British Eighth army is engaged in Tripoli and Tunisia.

Despite the absence of the British Eighth army from Egypt, authoritative sources believe the Germans would get a warm reception from other British, American and Turkish forces if they attempt any such move.

The American and British governments are understood to have felt for more than a year now that Turkey would fight if Hitler invaded that country. However, there has been some uncertainty as to what the Turks would do if the Germans by-passed that country in a seaborne invasion of Syria. That uncertainty has now been removed as a result of the Churchill-Inonu talks.

that the Germans were driven from three more inhabited localities on the southern front in fierce battles. A bloody counter-attack was launched by the Germans at one point but they were repulsed with heavy losses. On another sector a strongly fortified position was seized by the Russians.

More Localities Taken

A total of 13 inhabited localities fell back into Russian hands as the Red army surged forward in the direction of Voroshilovgrad and Kharkov. Three towns were occupied on one sector of this front while another forward moving formation occupied 10 places after routing a battalion and capturing much war material and prisoners.

Two companies of infantry were routed in a stiff battle for one inhabited locality in the North Caucasus where the Soviets steadily overcame the enemy resistance. A Guards cavalry unit attacked and routed a German supply column. Numerous supplies were destroyed while others were captured.

West of Voronezh the Russians continued their offensive toward Kursk. Two large inhabited localities were captured, while the Soviet forces repulsed a German counter-attack. On another part of this front three other inhabited localities were captured.

The staggering Russian victory at Stalingrad which sounded the death knell of a German siege army of 330,000 troops was announced in a special communiqué. The high command revealed that on Monday and Tuesday the Red army took another 45,000 prisoners including 11th German army corps, and eight other generals.

During a short business meeting, it was reported that shoes for needy children have been purchased by the club. Treasurer Miss Eleanor McGuff reported that a $100 war savings bond has been purchased from proceeds of a movie and two bake sales sponsored by the club.

Members were invited to a fire-side supper by their sponsor, Mrs. Pearson Furst, at her home on Summer avenue, Tuesday, February 16.

DISARMING AXIS

SUBORDINATE only to the main dramatic imports of the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting at the African front is the world-wide stimulus it will give to lay speculation as to the nature of the measures to keep Germany, Japan and Italy disarmed in the future.

The work-a-day citizen, not schooled in international affairs, is very definitely of the opinion that the Allies must avoid all compromise in that field. It will not be difficult to disarm the three Axis partners when they have been defeated on the battle fronts. It will require extreme action and continued vigilance to keep them disarmed.

Each of the three Axis partners plunged into this war impelled by the same motive—conquest. Hitler proclaimed his "yellow room" reason: Hirohito was ambitious to rule all of Asia; Mussolini had nightmares of a "Roman empire."

Hitler ignored Versailles restraints. Hirohito broke his treaty commitments. Mussolini spurned the League of Nations.

In the future, as in the past, a pact to keep the peace and a promise to remain disarmed plainly will not answer. The United Nations must see to it that the new peace is preserved by keeping powerless nations which are militaristically inclined.

It is unthinkable that Germany, Italy or Japan will be permitted a navy or that the Allies will allow the manufacture of fighting planes, tanks and guns in any of those countries.

STOCK MARKET IMPROVES

In an ordinarily dull season January, the New York stock market continued to rally this year and prices rose to the best levels since November, 1941, continuing a trend that has been consistently apparent since the elections last fall.

Public confidence in the value of listed securities seems to be sufficiently well founded to absorb all selling moves. There has been no wild demonstration of joy in Wall Street, but rather a safe, sane and conservative manifestation of confidence in the election returns.

Many railroad stocks are in increased demand. When the Supreme Court passes upon certain fundamental questions of reorganization the rails are booked for more investment attention than they have had in many a day. And in many other stocks a day of more active public investment appears to have arrived.

SALES TAX AND DEBT

Advocates of a federal sales tax seem to be confident that this time the discussion will continue until such an impost is enacted.

This assurance arises from belief among advocates of the tax that income taxation can be boosted no higher and that a sales tax will be the only alternative to finance a one-year budget of $109,000,000,000. At best, it is expected that the federal debt will grow from $115,000,000,000 to $200,000,000,000 by the end of this year.

It is contended by sales tax adherents that too large a percentage of public bonds is being held by banks and too little by investors. Dispersal of these bank holdings among the public and a sales tax to slow the astronomical progress of the debt are held by them to be the only safe fiscal moves.

It is doubtful, certainly, whether the nation can stand another increase in income taxes on top of the present prohibitive rates.

MUSSOLINI'S MEANINGLESS PLEA

In declaring the victory will go to the side "able to hold out a quarter hour longer than the enemy," Mussolini is harping on a theme recently given considerable prominence by Nazi leaders. In the case of Germany the faulty implication is that if the Kaiser had held out a little longer the Allies would have lost World War I.

It would be interesting to know what the war-weary Italian people think of the Duce's appeal to hold out a "quarter hour" longer than America and Britain. The Italian people have endured for almost three years a war into which they were dragged against their will. They have seen their country virtually taken over by Hitler. They have seen their African empire torn away. And they now see thousands of American and British soldiers and swarms of war planes aimed in their direction.

Defeat of the Axis will mean the restoration of liberty to Italy and the sooner the Italian people realize that fact the better for everybody. They can help their own cause best—when the Allies have made things so hot for Hitler that all his attention will be needed on the home front—by disavowing the discredited Mussolini and all his gang.—Philadelphia Inquirer

RACE AGAINST TIME

Realizing that transportation is its prime weakness, Japan is credited with working along several lines to overcome the handicap. Japan's steel, aluminum, fishing and farming industries are dependent upon imported ores, coal, kerosene and fertilizers.

In the first year of the war Japan lost 25 per cent of its 6,000,000 tons of cargo vessels. Part of this loss was counteracted by capture of French and Allied shipping. But it is estimated that Japan needs 2,000,000 to 25,000,000 tons of cargo vessels, a requirement that cannot be met by its limited building facilities.

Japan is using railroads along the China and Indo-China coasts as one means of supplementing ships. A fishing fleet of 65,000 small vessels is being called into play, at the sacrifice of essential food, for certain types of coastal shipping. It is reported that small wooden ships of less than 1,000 tons are being turned out in large numbers. There are rumors that the Japs are constructing a canal across the narrow part of the Malay peninsula to save a long haul around Singapore.

All of these projects Japan is trying to complete before the Allies smite her with their military might. It is a race against time, with the odds increasingly against the enemy as the Allied offensive mounts in intensity.

Nazis are becoming as dismayed as the Italians at the turn of war events because they know the Allies will not stop at the German border this time.

It has long been said that charity covers a multitude of sins and it is equally true that a lot of monstrosities are created in the name of

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHECK INDOOR ROUGHHOUSE

In normal times every child should learn not to play roughhouse indoors. In these days when many homes are crowded and some families are all home on evenings, thanks to rationing, when there also are many fathers who must sleep by day, the growing child needs special guidance in non-rumping fun indoors at home.

To this end let the youngsters learn early some essential restraints as I have often pleaded in this column.

Let there also be innumerable ways for the child to have creative fun alone or with other children his age and play games indoors which do not encourage pushing, running and tumbling. Also, the growing child needs ample opportunity to romp and play in safe places out of doors. Think of the thousands of children who do not have such play places.

Guide the tot to be careful of his things and the furniture, as he carries things about or hauls them from room to room in his little cart or wagon. More time and patience are required where there are several small children in the family or where playmates come in to play with your child.

Early Training

In order to teach your child to play properly indoors when he is 2, 4 or 8, he will need to learn very early the meaning of NO, so that you can effectively restrain him from destructive activity without excessive annoyance to you or him. He should learn, for example, never to climb up on the piano, stand on polished furniture with his shoes on, jump up and down on stuffed furniture or play games of chase indoors, whether he is three or 13.

Unless your child has learned reasonable restraint, he will romp more roughly when a playmate comes in, especially if this playmate has not acquired wholesome restraint in his home. Of course, you want to attract playmates for your child of two or three and companions for your youth of 14 or 16. The conduct of these guests will depend largely on the conduct of your own child.

Effective Control

Desirable control of children in the home can be effected best if the child has learned from his early years to amuse himself with blocks, tools, paper, crayons and the like and has engaged in creative indoor play with some other children about his age.

In these days, we parents need to stimulate our children and their friends who come in our homes in wholesome creative group enjoyments. Let there be lots of laughter, lots of singing, lots of activity with the hands rather than with the feet. We parents need to learn to join in such wholesome fun when we are needed to do by our children. We need to provide more non-running games for group play in the home.

Fortunate is the child who grows up in a home where he and his friends have many good times without unnecessary annoyance to others or destruction of property.

Solving Parents Problems

Q. Unless I scold or threaten, our boy, six, does not obey. When spoken to he just seems to be dreaming. The moment I raise my voice, he jumps and says, "Don't holler! I hear you," but doesn't act. When I ask why he waits till I scold he says he doesn't know.

A. Your boy has learned that you don't mean what you say until you do scold or yell at him. Reduce your command by about 50 per cent. Before you make a request or command, be sure first you have his complete attention. Then do not repeat the command. Have available a penalty which you can enforce that will be effective, other than scolding. However, when you make a request of him, expect him to choose whether to comply or not just as if he were a guest or adult friend. Don't show, nor even feel, any anger if he chooses then not to accede to your request. This is hard to do but guarantees rich dividends of cooperation in the long run.

A FLOWER GROWER WONDERS

I wonder would it harm the cause this spring

If I should plant the pansy row anew

And seed petunias where the lettuce grew?

Is one pale radish still a needful thing?

I wonder would my neighbors jeer at me

And call me slacker if I chose to grow

The sturdy zinnias in my parsley row,

And where I tried for cabbage phlox should be.

For victory's sake last year I put aside

The sweet June rose and planted beans and peas.

But crawling things came in my vines to seize.

The lettuce prospered, but the sweet corn died.

My victory garden lacked the magic touch

Of those who knew the way of cross and kale.

If this spring where I watched tomatoes fall

I try for cosmos—will it matter much?

MARCH OF PROGRESS

Progress is the one thing against which no one can completely protect himself.

Progress compels adjustment. Dictators and rulers are subject to change as were Kings and Emperors. They are the victims of progress as surely as are wage earners.

The onward march of science, invention, and free government is as resistless as the tides.

Most men who are over 40 dislike change. We like our jobs, our investments, our neighborhoods, our routine of living. We don't care to alter anything.

REFLECTIONS OF A SWING SHIFTER

There is none so blind as who won't see. The more rationing is imposed on the American people, the more they resent it. Yes, and so do the soldiers.

Last week I had a meal by invitation at a soldier's mess. One of the men in uniform remarked, "Gee, I wish my Mom and Dad had some of this grub."

Sure, the soldiers must be fed, and the best is none too good, but it does not help their morale when they know that the ones they love back home cannot get the kinds of food they need.

We now have six million men in uniform. Soon, we will have a third again as many. Some people think it will be near twelve million. If by the same ratio as present, this means double the rationing we now have—yes, half-empty dinner pails—just how much will the American people tolerate?

No nation of half-starved people ever won a war. Just as soon as the soldiers grow their backs home are being rationed down to starvation, they will blow up. To win this war we must have a high morale—among the soldiers and on the home front.

You must feed a people to keep them healthy enough to produce at top efficiency—and remember, too, that twelve million soldiers will need double present production from not many more workmen than we have at present. It is about time some of the rationing experts, lease-lenders and food regulators in Washington come to a realization of what is ahead of this nation when people go to bed hungry and the babies don't get enough milk.

Sure, England has long been known as a nation of beef-eaters. Well, Americans never were a nation of kidney, tripe, heart, tongue and liver eaters.

It will be mighty difficult to maintain the nation's unity and high morale on an abattoir-by-product diet.

Installment Buying Is Put In Reverse
Plan Has Immediate End For Duration
Can Pay Now For Delivery AfterwardsBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Ever buy anything on the installment plan? If so, you know how it works.

You make a small down payment on whatever you are buying. Then you get the goods. After that you go on paying, at stated intervals and in stated amounts until the whole bill is settled or death comes to your relief.

It is not in the same classification with a credit in, say, a piece of real estate. There is something legitimate about that, though perhaps only as a matter of habit. Anyway, if your deal was in real estate, you feel that you have purchased an "equity" rather than that you have run into debt. It's the same thing, but the term "equity" sounds more respectable. If you default on an "equity" installment, you're foreclosed, and some very consequential people get caught in financial jams and "go broke" on a big enough scale to amount, almost, to favorable advertising or they couldn't pop so ostentatiously.

A chap who is shy on his current remittance for a bit of home furniture or a flivver, or some such merchandise that he is in hook for, does not rate as a life-sized bankrupt. He simply is dispossessed.

That chap is not even a life-sized failure.

All the same, small caliber installment buying is being conscripted for wartime purposes.

It is being "put into reverse," according to Economist Rolf Nugent of the Russell Sage foundation, who evolved the scheme, as a present associate of the Office of Price Administration, Leon Henderson's former outfit.

"Reverse?"

This is the way it works: You are to pick out what you want after the war, and begin paying for it, but you will not get the stuff you are buying for some time. You will pay indefinitely, month after month, at the rate of the originally agreed-on price, until you hit the total.

Still you will not receive your purchased object while the war lasts. Instead, you will be urged to do some more installment buying until peace is restored.

The plan has an immediate end in view and an ultimate one. Economists aim to take a lot of current funds out of circulation, as an inflation preventive.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THAT POINT SYSTEM

Now that the "point" system of rationing is just around the corner—due, in fact this month—we may just as well look ahead where the system is in full use and learn what we can of its operation.

When it really hits its stride, covering all luxuries and most necessities, "point" rationing is going to prove humorous, annoying or nerve-wracking, depending on the rationee's frame of mind—according to predictions of those who have seen it work on the Continent. So let's look to France and see how it's going there. Then, possibly, we'll be in a fit frame of mind really to enjoy it, home style.

So far, Americans know only the ration book system permitting purchase of specific amounts of specified commodities. Under point rationing, however, the consumer uses his own judgment as to just how much of which things he chooses to buy, among numbers of rationed items.

Woe unto him if he throws discretion to the winds and purchases so much of one thing he has no "points" left for other needs—like the French sophisticate who bought an imitation silk shirt, blouse and sweater—and found shed spent half a year's clothing coupon!

Fortunately, here the clothing ration is not yet to be reckoned with, though shortages in silk, wool, nylon, leather, metal and a score of such materials has been felt for many months.

In occupied France the weekly ration of foodstuffs per person works out like this: four ounces of cooking oil; one and one-half ounces of oleomargarine; ten ounces of meat; two ounces of imitation coffee; eight ounces of sugar; four ounces of macaroni; three and one-half ounces of cheese; four ounces of dried vegetables; one ounce of jam; nine ounces of potatoes; four pounds of bread; one bottle of wine; a small chip of imitation soap—and one egg a month.

All this is not equal to one pound of food a day. And actually securing anything like these amounts requires a great deal of ingenuity, stealth in patronizing the "black market"—run by the Germans—and money for bribes.

That is the pattern rationing takes when the enemy gets too close.

However difficult or bothersome the new system may appear on the eve of its birth in this country, it's good to know that unlike France, Holland, Yugoslavia, Poland, Norway, Manchukuo, Burma and the Philippines, here at least it will be administered American style—not Nazi and not Jap.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

We talk about billions these days as if they were marbles.

Yet, how many of us have the slightest idea what a billion really means?

Two well-dressed men were sitting in back of me on my commuter's train a couple of mornings ago.

They were apparently substantial businessmen, accustomed to handling big deals.

They were discussing President Roosevelt's (and your) 108 billion-dollar budget.

Wrote one of them, "what a lot of money!"

"Sure is," the other one agreed. "Just how much is a billion?"

The first fellow hesitated a minute and scratched his head (how did I know, sitting in front of him?) I heard it!

"A billion is a hundred million," he said authoritatively. "Imagine 108 times a hundred million dollars!"

So there you are—what do we know about the value of a billion?

In one of the Netherlands East Indies recently there was a financial panic.

Twice-Torpedoed Seaman Need Not Serve Jail Term

Four-Year Sentence For Draft
Technically Suspended For Merchant Marine

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 3.—Vernon A. Kraft, 26-year-old seaman, whose ships were twice torpedoed while playing war zone routes from Rejkyavik, Iceland, to Capetown, South Africa, will not have to serve a four-year prison sentence imposed for failure to notify his draft board of a change in address, it appeared today.

Kraft pleaded guilty in St. Louis federal court yesterday, but for some unexplained reason did not show the judge his certificates of release from marine assignments.

Later, Judge Charles B. Davis said he would suspend sentence, adding: "He deserves a better fate than a prison cell. If the army will not take him, we'll see if he can't get back into the merchant marine."

Kraft said he did not believe he could get in the army because of a shortened arm, crippled in childhood.

"I'd like to return to sea," he said. "I've never jumped a ship—jumping a ship is worse than deserting the army."

The war shipping board came to

Kraft's aid, sending a telegram to Missouri selective service headquarters asking his parole so he may return "immediately" to the merchant marine.

Kraft registered for the draft in St. Louis and told the court that his family later moved to Texas, but he did not notify the board of the address change. He said he joined the merchant marine in August, 1941, and finally notified the draft board of his address change in June, 1942. By that time, however, he already had been declared delinquent.

Skaters' Shelter House Is Ready At Cascade Park

Fireplace Also Built Nearby
For Convenience Of Skaters
On Lake

Within about ten feet of the lake at Cascade Park, a shelter house has been built, with three sides, and open to the lake. Seats have been put in for putting on and taking off of skates.

Superintendent C. C. Coulthard also states that a splendid fireplace has been built near by, but at a safe distance from the building, by Owen Fox, city forester. Wood is provided near the fireplace, for the kindling of a fire, which helps to make things more cheerful. Mr. Coulthard also states that there are lights in the building, a large flood light and a half a dozen large lights throwing light over the lake, for night skating. A guard is kept in freezing weather, to warn skaters of weak spots, if any, on the ice.

Quite a number of young folks have already availed themselves of the opportunity of skating on the frozen lake, but Chris says the ice has not yet been in the best of shape. The young people that have been skating there, he states, have cooperated well in this effort to provide this pastime, and the park authorities appreciate this on their part. The price of admission for skating will simply be the manner in which the skaters cooperate. Help police and protect the property in the park.

By this method, he calculates that it can be done on a wholesale basis. Six billions is the figure he reckons on.

But AFTER the war?

At that juncture there will be an estimated six billions in orders accumulated. Filling them will keep labor busy indefinitely, it is argued.

That is true, but the labor already will have been paid for. And what about the capacity of capital, paid in advance, to meet its post-war payrolls?

There will be an enormous pre-war demand—but will capital have the resources to meet the accumulation?

It is a question of government.

That is obvious.

The whole thing is a completely new gamble.

What we will get for our investment is a matter of speculation.

It is a new line of economics.

How well it will or will not work will be demonstrated in post-war days.

The treasury department is monkeying with the notion anyway.

How it will pan out, heaven alone now knows.

Economist Nugent believes his program is fool-proof, but, inasmuch as it has not been tested, the accuracy of his opinion remains to be proved.

A lot of these schemes have been tried as means of financing past wars, preventing inflation and relieving post-war hard times and not one of them ever scored a success worth mentioning.

Still, perhaps Economist Nugent has hit on the right notion at last.

Urge Immediate Return Of Gas Ration Renewals

Renewal applications for gasoline ration books are now being sent out to motorists in Lawrence County, but the return of them has been light thus far, according to the office of war price and rationing.

Motorists will avoid a grand jam at the end of the month if they will send their renewal applications back to the office as soon after they get them as is possible.

Gas ration coupons do not expire until March 1, but the new books must be in the hands of motorists on that date if they want gasoline. It is suggested that motorists return their renewal applications immediately after they have filled them out.

Brown Memorial Fund Supplies More Books

William McKean Brown Memorial Collection At Public Library Augmented

In memory of William McKean Brown, well-known early resident of New Castle, a gift of books, made possible by a memorial fund, has again been received from the Yale University Press by the public library. A list of the books will be published as soon as the books have been prepared for circulation. These books have been coming annually to the library since 1934, until the William McKean Brown collection now numbers over 500 books.

With a letter of transmittal which preceded the books, from George Parry Day, treasurer of Yale University, were enclosed a sufficient number of bookplates to place one in each volume. The bookplate reads:

"A gift to the New Castle Free Public Library, in memory of William McKean Brown, a leader in the development of his community, state senator, and later lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania."

Reapportionment Of Legislature Plans Scrapped

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—Reapportionment of Pennsylvania's 208 representative and 50 senatorial districts was scrapped today by the Republican-dominated legislature because of mounting opposition.

Although assembly reapportionment has not been revised since 1921, G. O. P. leaders have agreed that attempts to redistrict the state probably would end in a stalemate between the rural and urban delegations even though the Republicans control both the House and Senate.

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, of Dauphin, the Republican state chairman, indicated that the opposition to assembly reapportionment did not extend to revision of the state's 33 congressional districts.

The general assembly was slated to end its fourth legislative week today after a brief session and then recess until Monday night. While legislators are pledged to a speedy war-time session, not much concrete action can apparently be expected until Gov. Edward Martin presents his biennial budget late this month.

'Les Americains' Amaze Algerians

People Of Oran Stare In Admiration At American Speed, Efficiency

By CLINTON GREEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ORAN, Algeria, Feb. 3.—Typical American speed, efficiency and organization are doing wonders in transforming North Africa into a well-knit Allied base—and the people of Oran still are amazed at the transportation miracles accomplished by the Yankees.

Even now, many weeks after the American Liberating Force entered Oran, the population and civil authorities are expressing astonishment over the ability "Les Americains" have for getting things done. Only a few miles outside the French city is one of the best natural harbors of the world. Today American ships, which use this harbor along with a constant stream of transport ships entering and departing, further impress most of the natives and French population with the completeness of Allied plans to make North Africa safe for the large scale operations necessary to deal a death-blow to the European partners of the Axis.

Disdain German Aim
Within a matter of a few hours after transports slipped into this well-fortified harbor, the anti-aircraft gunners expressed in a few well-chosen words their disdain for the accuracy of German bombers. American soldiers began working "round the clock" to clear the holds and docks of the fuel and necessary supplies.

"It is a far cry from six weeks ago when we had to steam up and down outside our harbor for days on end waiting to get in to unload," said the captain of one transport. "The soldiers doing the unloading go about their job with a vengeance and there is no clock-watching." Ask a soldier about it. He will probably shrug his shoulders and mumble something about this being his job and the quicker the stuff gets off, the quicker it is on its way to the front.

Amazement And Praise
Two words sum up the opinion of the civil authorities and the population.

"Les Americains," is the way they put it—in a tone combining amazement and praise. Within a minute after a jeep or jeep park along the curbing, it is literally surrounded by street gamins and also passers-by. They just stand and stare. Once in a while a word of praise is passed among the group but usually the procedure is to just stand and stare and admire.

"Transport is still one of the most, if not the most, important problem we have," said a high-ranking military officer in the American army. With speed and equipment, the transport problem is being solved among the great many other tasks.

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—Former State Senator Charles A. P. Bartlett, of Easton, was elected Tuesday by the Republican-controlled upper house as senate librarian. There was no opposition.

Backbone Of The Kindergarten

(Contributed)

The kindergarten is a place where children are learning basic attitudes and acquiring new varied, and vital experiences which lead children to be cooperative, exploratory, self-directed and relatively independent. The kindergarten should never be conceived of primarily as a place wherein all children, or even most children, receive a preparation for reading. It is true that the kindergarten does prepare the child for reading-readiness, but its function must never be thought of in terms of one narrow concept.

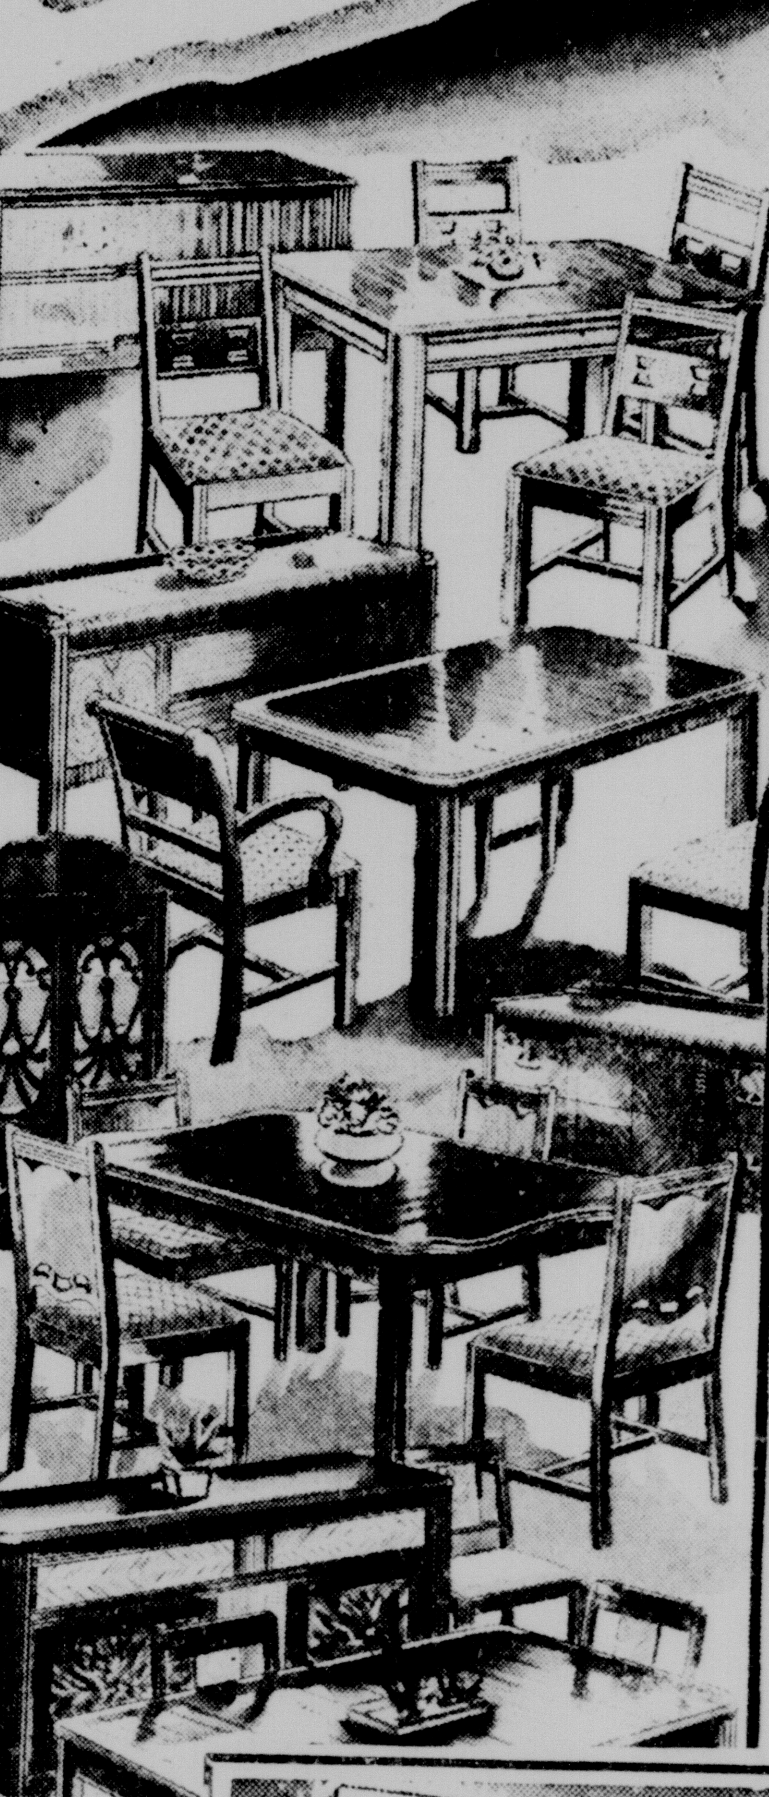

What then is the curriculum of the kindergarten and how will your child be taught? Briefly stated—your child will be developed mentally, physically, socially and emotionally for the routine of the schoolroom—he will be taught how to get along with other people and after that one characteristic in itself can spell failure or success to the business or professional man of today.

Let us be more specific—Social behavior in kindergarten situations involves a different set of response than found in the environment of the home. It involves being courteous in everyday associations, keeping quiet at certain times, taking turns, not laughing or making fun of the mistakes of other children, paying attention when someone else is talking, not getting angry when interrupted or when his share of time and attention. Cooperation in kindergarten means obeying the rules of the school; working together with other children on a group project; taking the lead or doing the particular task assigned to him; being in the right place at the right time; and being willing to play the games of the other children. Helpfulness in kindergarten means keeping his own special place neat; being willing to share and to help others in the general work undertaken by the group. Personal cleanliness and healthful living in kindergarten require the washing of hands, standing and walking in good posture; covering the nose and mouth when sneezing or coughing; keeping fingernails and all other objects out of the mouth; going outdoors to play under careful supervision; in being consistently cheerful, good-natured and happy.

Learning "how to get along with other people" demands plenty of practice in working and playing with other children. This "practice" is provided in the kindergarten where the child is given freedom to move about, to consult and assist other children, to solve group problems and to realize that his individual actions contribute to or prevent the harmonious activity of other individuals. All of these desirable behaviors—many more equally valuable—form the backbone of the kindergarten.

Ahepa Raises Large Sum For War Program

Small in membership, the Ahepa, the local fraternal association of Grecian-Americans has a record of achievement in war work far out of proportion to its membership. In the drive for Greek relief funds, the Ahepa did an outstanding job and since the inception of war bond drives they have done a great deal.

Recently the national Ahepa set a goal of $50,000,000 for the membership in the United States, to be raised between November 22, 1942 and February 22, 1943. The local unit allocation was set at $125,000.

To date the chapter has sold about $50,000 in stamps and bonds and hopes to reach its quota by the 22nd.

Unbeaten 'Greyhounds' Rout Jackson For 13th

"Skyscraper" Cathcart Meshes 18 Points To Run Total To 244

SHENANGO-BESSEMER ON TRIUMPHANT LANE

By adding one victory on top of another, the strong New Wilmington high sharpshooters are moving closer to the coveted Section 21 championship and the Class B WPIAL tournament.

The talented "Greyhounds" preserved their unbeaten streak last night on Community House floor, by routing Mt. Jackson, 50-23.

Towering Kenny "Skyscraper" Cathcart paced his mates to their 13th consecutive triumph. The six foot center again found the cords much to his liking, ringing 18 points on eight fielders and a pair of free shots to run his season total to 244.

File Early Lead As in most of their previous skirmishes, the Eaglesmen went right to work and piled up an overwhelming edge before the opposition could even catch its second breath.

By halftime, the host slickers led, 27-10, and then coasted. Borowicz, and Green clipped in 17 points between them.

Since Wampum was playing non-league opposition, the "Greyhounds" fastened their first place lead to a game and a half.

Ed Bradley, one of the better performers in the first circuit, wasn't too far behind Cathcart, rimming 13 points on five "frees" and three gilt flumes for the Mounties.

BESSEMER COPS EASILY Handling on tenaciousness, Bessemer, last year's kings, repeated an earlier victory over Union Township, this time by a 34-23 score, yesterday afternoon at Bessemer.

The "Comets" clicking smoothly, stacked a 12-2 edge on the opening period and then kept adding to the margin until the fourth when the stand-ins took over. Jack Grubis showed signs of pulling out by a protracted slump, brought on by a sore foot, by leading his pals with 13 points. Kozelich came next with eight.

Annarella, Union Township star player, hit nine markers, while Dougherty and Telesz shared second honors.

Bessemer has won five and lost two. Still having to face New Wilmington and Wampum, the Wessex boys are far from out of the title picture.

SHENANGO RALLIES, WINS Battered throughout the opening half, Shenango Township found its bearings and rolled on to a well earned 20-20 victory over a stout East Brook five, last night on the Brooks' range.

The home towners forged to the front, 7-0, in the first and 13-3 as the half closed. Then, the Nahas-coached flippers stepped on the accelerator, ringing 17 points to two for the opposition to surge ahead, never to trail again.

Buly and Kalaajainen were scoring stars for the winners while Morrow and Kennedy featured for the losers.

The triumph gave the East New Castle athletes undisputed possession of fourth place.

TWO EX-BUCKEYES TO RUN IN BOSTON BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Two Ohio State graduates will start in two trophy classics in the 34th annual Boston A. A. games at Boston Garden Feb. 13.

The entries of Charlie Beetham for the Holles 600 and Harold Eisenhart for the Lapham 1000 were announced today. Beetham will be defending the Holles event and seeking his fourth consecutive victory in the race.

Sued for Divorce

Mrs. Helen H. Fox has filed a suit for divorce at Norristown, Pa., from her famous baseball-playing husband, Jimmy Fox, one of the greatest stars of all-time. Fox was chosen three times as the American league's most valuable player, but was waived out of the circuit last season and joined the Chicago Cubs. The couple, married in 1928, have two sons, one 13 years old and the other 6. Fox is 35 years old.

McNutt's Edict Stirs Confusion In Major Leops

Moguls Plan To Go Ahead Unless Washington Says Otherwise

By JACK MAHON

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—What place has baseball, and all other professional sports in the wartime year, 1943?

The fate of the diamond—or "national" pastime—if you prefer, will determine the wartime status of all other play for pay sports in the years ahead, yet baseball men were hopelessly confused today. They were lost in a fog of disillusionment, confusion, and desperate hope.

Most of those queried about the nation on manpower commissioner's Paul V. McNutt's "war work or fight" edict had little comment. The consensus of baseball men's opinion gathered by an INS poll, was: "We are going ahead with plans for 1943. We haven't heard anything from Washington to the contrary."

One baseball spokesman, who has the reputation of being the slowest man in the game today, was a bit more explicit. We think his comment will interest you. Asked what he thought about the McNutt order, where-by all men between the ages of 18 and 38, listed in some 70 industries, must take a war job or face a draft into the armed services after April 1, he said:

"I intend to go along with my plans until I am told to do otherwise. It is significant to me that baseball was not classed on either the essential or non-essential job lists."

James Timothy Gallagher, general manager of the Chicago Cubs was another executive who made an in effect James said: "If ball players are classified I-A, regardless of dependents, close the gates. There aren't 30 guys in the country over 38 who can play major league ball."

And they had reason to be concerned. Baseball is listed on the red, white and blue market as approximately $25,000,000 in Uncle Sam's money—not Nazi marks!

SHORT SPORTS

BIG IF For a couple of seasons much has been written about using Gerald Priddy at first base. But the Yankees have never gone beyond experimenting. However, if Cleveland gets Priddy in a trade he will be used at first. Les Fleming is in the draft and Trosky won't report.

THEY'RE OPTIMISTIC Conrad M. Jennings of Marquette and Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin are two midwest athletic directors who expect football will continue in 1943.

LAWRENCE, Kan.—Kansas basketball team won all three games of a triple-header with service teams, piling up 173 points to the combined opposition's 84.

DELAWARE ROLL-OFF SEATTLE—George Sheets and George Kosmas tied in a five-game bowling match at Anchorage, Alaska, 28 years ago. They are to meet in a roll-off in Seattle for the American Red Cross.

TO QUIT SPORTS Presidents of five Kansas conference schools, have announced all sports will be dropped after this year.

FAVORS EXPANSION Branch Rickey favors enlarging big league farm systems instead of cutting them down in wartime as was done by Detroit.

Leads Wampum To Easy 105-34 Victory Tuesday

Crushes 43-Point High Set By George Moraz, Scott; Darlington foe

PLANTS 18 DEUCES, 12-14 FREE TOSSES

(Special To The News)

WAMPUM, Feb. 3.—Coy "Springy" Craine, sensational Wampum high center, Tuesday night smashed the district individual scoring record by arching 48 points as the "Indians" annihilated Darlington, 105-34.

By posting 18 field goals and 12 out of 14 fouls, the Lawrence county wizard demolished George Moraz, Scott high slicker, who potted 42 points on 16 "frees" and 11 free tosses against Wilkesburg a few weeks ago.

W. P. I. A. L. addicts today are hurrying through the ledgers to see if the easy-going athlete has established an all-time high in the circuit.

Shoots Unerringly Craine, who was checked for the first time in his career last Friday when he was held to five points, was beautiful to watch as he dipped the ball through with unerring precision.

He had not elected to pass the ball, midway in the third, he could have crushed the 53-point high set by "Chuck" Chukovits of Toledo University, a few seasons back.

Last night's barrage raised Craine's season total to 343. 33 points shy of breaking the 375-point WPIAL mark he set last season. For his high school career, Coy now has 1,055 which is also a new streak.

Aside from this, Wampum nabbed its 15th decision in 17 games, an established a mark by canning 105 points.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Frank Walton has been selected as director of physical education at Geneva college according to an announcement made today at Beaver Falls by Dr. M. M. Pearce, president. Walton has been assistant football coach at Geneva for the past two years and succeeds William T. Davis who resigned to accept a similar post at Hartford, Conn. Walton starred at Pitt in 1934 and until last October was a physical director at Beaver Falls high.

Dick Werner, a Paterson, N. J. food salesman, is New York speed skate champ. Recently he won the Mid-Atlantic States crown. Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y., who won the P. G. A. tourney when he was 20, then quit because of a knee ailment, is critically ill in an Albany hospital. Buddy Baer is athletic instructor at an art post at Tanager race track, near Frisco.

Some prominent of baseball will pay homage to 80-year-old Connie Mack of the A's at a testimonial dinner Friday night in Philadelphia. Of course, one of the veterans, Tony Richards, the baseball man of yesterday. He is a hustler in OGD work and while he signed for baseball games as Tony Richards he signs his correct name, Anthony Ricciardi, for OGD and legal matters.

Should Cascade Park lake "grow" a smooth ice surface C. C. Coulthard, manager, could probably work up an ice skating tourney which would prove interesting. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker will head the Victory corps, an organization to encourage physical fitness. Freddy Mills, R. A. F. sergeant, plans to come to the U. S. after the war to seek a titular bout with Joe Louis.

GRADUATE SOON BERKELEY, Cal.—Eight members of the 1942 University of California football squad are among the thirty students in the ROTC infantry unit on the Berkeley campus who will be graduated in the advance military course this month, and leave immediately for pre-commission training at Fort Benning.

The prospect, an origin remember, include Bob and Billy Reinhardt, John Ferguson, Gene Pickett, Tom Mason, Harry Alger, Charles De Coudres, and Harry Peiper.

Loebbaum, who pitched in 43 games for Atlanta, finished without an error.

PENNSY MAY LOWER AMATEUR MITT AGE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—Senate committee on law and order has determined whether youths of 16 and 17 are old enough to fight and wrestle.

A bill introduced by Sen. A. Evans Kephart (R) Philadelphia would enable them to participate in amateur boxing, sparring and wrestling matches or exhibitions with other persons not over 17, under such regulations as the State Athletic Commission would prescribe. The minimum age is now 18.

Titan Hoopsters Hosts To Geneva

Foes Play At New Wilmington Tonight; Pitt On Next Saturday

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 3.—Opening with Geneva tonight, the Titans begin a three-game home stand in the next week. After the Covenanters, the Blue and White cagers take on the strong Pitt quintet Saturday followed by Juniata Tuesday.

Westminster will enter the Geneva fray trying to improve their mediocre record of three wins and three setbacks. Both teams have been playing "hot and cold" brand of basketball during the season, with the Covies having already played 14 contests.

Lineup Unchanged Coach Washbaugh will use the same line-up of Heddlston and O'Hara at the forwards, Goldblum at center, and Ossoff and Miller at the guards. Heddlston, promising East Liverpool freshman, is waiting to be called into the service with the ERC.

With the Army Air Corps Reserve also being called into service, possible are that Goldblum and Don Bennett, towering sophomores, will be lost in the next few weeks. Coach Washbaugh has the added worry of building up reserve strength. Bob Dierken will be out of action for a few weeks with a hand injury, while Tom Jones, Connelville freshman has been troubled by a sprained ankle.

Other Titans in the Enlisted Army Reserve are Ted Ossoff and Miles Renzik.

'Canes Next Battle. Aliquippans Friday

Localities Seek Second Section 3 Triumph On Beaver Valley Court

Forced to the sidelines by an idle schedule yesterday, New Castle high sharpens its sights for Friday night's Section 3 battle with Aliquippa, in the Beaver Valley.

In their sectional debut, the 'Canes were forced to accept a hard-to-take 30-28 setback administered by the Lippe-coached brigade. The Bridenbaughsmen, their spirits buoyed by last Saturday's win over Ellwood City aim to square account.

Gunn Back In Jesse Gunn, who started with the regulars against the "Wolverines," played well enough to suit to Bridenbaugh and probably will be one of the five locals on the floor for the tip-off. Zubkowsky returns to his center berth. Razzano Andrews and Jacobs figure to be the remaining starters.

While they were counted out of the sectional derby several weeks ago, the Canes hope to regain some prestige by coping remaining games.

SHAPIRO TO FIGHT HUTCHINSON FEB. 15 (International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—Although Maxie Shapiro has challenged Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery to a third fight in a local ring, the New Yorker won't get a chance to go through with it unless he makes a good showing against Johnny Hutchinson, Promoter Herman Taylor announced today.

Maxie battles Hutchinson February 15 at the Arena in one of three 10-round windups.

Ellis Phillips, Philadelphia, meets New York's Irish Bobby Ruffin and Heavyweight Lou Brooks of Wilmington taken on Vince Pimpelli of New York in the other two feature attractions.

PITT QUINT ROUTS INDIANA TEACHERS PITTSBURGH, Feb. 3.—Paced by Malarky, who potted 21 points, Pitt university's upcoming cage quint bagged its seventh consecutive triumph, an easy 65-41 decision over Indiana Teachers, last night at Pittsburgh.

PROSPECTIVE ADDITIONS Prospective additions to the Grand Circuit of harness racing are Cleveland Chicago, Trenton York Allentown, Hamburg, N. Y., and Duquoin, Ill.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Wednesday "p. m." stew:

Plucked out of the mail bag—Sergeant John L. Dean, the local U. S. Marine recruiter recently ordered to the Navy hospital in Philly for a check up postcards that "I'm feeling O. K. Say hello to the New Castle sports gang."

Another local Marine, Pvt. Fred Maciarelli, stationed in the post exchange at the U. S. Navy yard, Philly, asks this query: "What's wrong with New Castle high and Westminster?" Nothing that a flock of field goals won't remedy.

Anonymous notes, which usually become the property of Janitor Johnny Daugherty, once in a long time contain a succulent bit of news. A typewritten piece, a rare brand, concerns "Baby" Leasure, the local biffer, and may interest the local cauliflower cognoscent.

"Baby" Leasure, now high in the AMA welterweight tourney, has been most successful in the amateur bracket, fighting 65 times. He has won 43 25 by kayos and lost 22. He was kayed five times. He, however squared accounts with all his conquerors, save two, one of whom died, the other is in service."

With the annual tourney date rapidly approaching, WPIAL moguls could score a direct hit by announcing that part of proceeds from the cage classic will be donated to war relief. While Pep fattened himself to the extent of $22,000 for easily whipping Allie Stolz last Friday.

Frank Donds, an ex-Westminster college athlete and assistant grid mentor at Sharon high, has enrolled in the naval specialist corps.

Pvt. Tommy Yarezo, who fought here numerous times while mopping up the amateur ranks, is coaching a boxing class at Ft. Monmouth.

Figures disclose that more than 225 major leaguers have entered the armed forces since the flag chances ended. Wonder if any of the Phils are going to ask the boss for a raise in pay? If Bob Johnson sticks to his gun, 80-year-old Connie Mack will have to dig down and pay a bonus Johnson reportedly has coming before he'll sign a contract.

Brooklyn 'If' Club Of N. L.

Bums May Experience Difficulty Finishing In First Division

TWIRLING STAFF IS MAIN FORTE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Brooklyn Dodgers, "If" club of the National league, may trouble finishing in the first division this season.

This good, old, unvarnished truth ruined the digestion of your correspondent as he contemplated the acquisition of Steve Mesner, 25-year-old, perennial "rookie" infielder who will get his first chance with the Dodgers—fourth try at the big time—this summer.

Mesner was acquired on waivers from the Reds, who had drafted him from the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league with whom he had batted 301 in 1942. Steve, a utility infielder who has played every position but first base, was grabbed as infield insurance after the Reds, shortstop, enlisted in the Navy last Saturday.

Here's the Dodger set-up at a couple of glances:

How It Looks First Baseman Dolf Camilli has announced his retirement; Durocher is about to be reclassified in I-A in St. Louis, where he will take his draft board "screen test" this week. Reese is in service. Vaughn will be back. The Brain has Alex Kampouris, who says he intends to retain his job as San Francisco fireman, and Mesner in reserve.

In the outfield only Joe Medwick of last year's regulars is a certainty. Dixie Walker and French Bordagay say they are retiring for the duration and Augie Galan is a man of mystery. Club officials are sure he is in I-A and some of them think he may already be in the army.

Pete Reiser and Johnny Rizzo are in the service.

Rookie Outfielder Hal Peck, bought from Milwaukee, is now in I-A, and Luiz Olmo, another rookie, is down in San Juan, Puerto Rico. The club is o. k. with Catcher, Mickey Owen and Billy Sullivan, and is blessed in only one department. It has a full pitching staff, including Whit Wyatt, Curt Davis, Kirby Higbe, Max Macon, Ruben Melton, Ed Head and the unpredictable Bob Newsum.

Assuming Camilli and Kampouris stick to their guns and Durocher is drafted (Leo will be a regular player if available) Rickey would have to line up Herman at first, Mesner at second, Vaughn at short and find a third baseman who could be spared by the ushers or groundkeepers' union.

NATIONAL SKATING TITLE EVENT MARCH 8 (International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Representatives of more than 100 skating clubs from various parts of the nation today were scheduled to compete in the national figure skating championships to be held on March 8 at Madison Square Garden.

In announcing the event, Mrs. Joshua Couden, chairman of the benefit committee of the Skating club of New York, revealed that many outstanding performers will compete.

The American Flying Service Foundation will benefit from the proceeds of the event.

RETURNS AS UMP Lynton R. Boggess, whose baseball playing career included seven games in the International League, will return to that circuit this summer as an umpire.

Leasure-Crews Amateur Champs

Local Mitt Slingers Score Surprising Triumphs In Pittsburgh

"BABY" UPSETS BILLY SHELTON

(Special To The News) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 3.—Lawrence county's amateur pugilistic stock Tuesday night sped skyward like hot lead flashing out of the mouth of ack-ack guns.

The bustling western Pennsylvania town today has in its midst two AMA-A.A.U. junior champions, 18-year-old Russell "Baby" Leasure, 147-pound king, and Roy Crews, of Ellwood City, boss of the 160-pound division.

Leasure, who hopped into the semi-final round by scoring two rapid kayos in one night last week, topping Mike Modak, of Aliquippa in 47 seconds, and Walt Siepary, victor of Pittsburgh in 2:50 of the first, was an underdog in last night's pairings.

Beats Eckles Paired with Ray Eckles, clever Pittsburgher, Leasure, an inspector in the New Castle Refractories, surprised the Boys' club gallery by winning the duel.

When Billy Shelton, sensational Pittsburgher defeated Dell Gatti to gain the final shot, Leasure's chances were as slim as a tooth pick.

Peeking away with his snapping left and countering beautifully with straight rights, the New Castleite rose to unexpected heights as he decided the rugged Smoky City battler to cop the diadem.

Leasure, a West Washington street resident and former Union Township high scholar, is managed by Johnny Banko, popular fistic mogul who formerly resided in West Pittsburgh.

Crews Flashy Crews, like Leasure, had to flash his best form to emerge triumphant. The colored Ellwoodian, one of the most improved gladiators in the district, sidetracked Johnny Toth, of Aliquippa, to move into the finals.

In the title-teller, Crews was sharp as he nabbed the coveted banner.

Johnny Loccasiano pilots the Ellwoodian.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Short and sweet. Dependency rapidly is being removed as a cause for deferment from the draft, and this trend in governmental procedure is making the plight of sports and more insecure. Athletes haven't been singled out yet, but may be at any time. Then will go baseball and the few events still on the boards.

In preparation for his bout on Friday night with Beau Jack, Fritz Zivic went through a workout with Fred Allen, the comedian. I would like to know what the significance may be beyond the fact that Allen figured this one out for some free publicity. He certainly didn't do Zivic any good as a fighter and I'm sure Zivic didn't do Allen any good as a comedian. The last time I looked at Zivic he wasn't anything to laugh at. In fact, I thought, he long since had made it unanimous by agreeing that he should retire as he will have to do sooner or later because after all, there is a limit on how old a fighter can be.

Track Least Hit
The least hard hit of all sports up to now is track and field. Saturday night's Milrose games will be strictly up to par all the way. A great band of competitors have been brought together for all the pole-vaulting of Cornelius Warner-dam. This will be his last meet, however, before he enters the service and several of the others are headed into uniforms.

James J. Johnston insists that if Willie Pep is matched with Beau Jack it will be the toughest fight the latter has engaged in since he hit the big time and Johnston thinks Beau will be whipped.

Pep has won 59 straight, a world's record insofar as anybody has been able to tell, but that's not what Johnston is going by. Pep is a smart boxer with a head that ties a guy in knots and he can take a pretty good punch. Johnston and some others, figure Beau won't lay a glove on the featherweight champ all evening. I might add one faint note to that by saying that Pep is by far the best fighter pound for pound currently in the business. He does a number of things extremely well. Yet, I don't feel too confident he can take Beau Jack. There would be a not inconsiderable weight difference, for one thing, and secondly Beau is a pretty fair fighter himself.

Announcement that Steve Mesner had been obtained on waivers by the Brooklyn Dodgers is more likely to cause the Flatbush faithful to turn any handsprings. The Dodgers need an infield, and Mesner is a pretty good utility man. A few more like this will assure the Dodgers of finishing no worse than seventh.

Trosky May Return
While Branch Rickey was announcing that he had obtained the services of Mesner, the St. Louis Cardinals were forwarding news that Pitcher Mort Cooper and Catcher Walt Cooper, the brother battery, had signed up again for the coming season. And the Cleveland Indians were revealing that Hal Trosky may return to first base after a year's absence on account of illness.

President Ed Barrow of the New York Yankees seems to be clinging to the notion that Joe DiMaggio is going to be back to play center field, although he recently announced plans for entering the service. Reports have it that Joe will be offered $40,000 for next season, or a slight cut of about $3,000. But don't go out and gamble that he will be back.

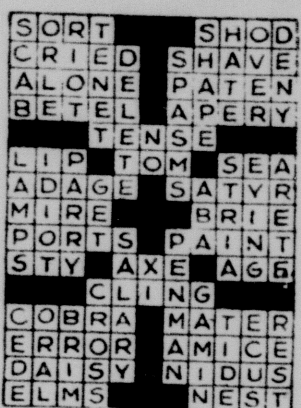

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

What of the tuberculous patient discharged from a sanatorium? A recent survey of 7,000 such patients has been announced. Five years after discharge, 52 per cent were alive. Thirty-one per cent had died within five years of discharge. Seventeen per cent could not be located for check-up. Females showed a slightly higher survival rate than men. Especially single females whose average age is younger. Single women usually have fewer responsibilities. Professionally trained patients live longer than others. Forty-eight per cent of those living found employment. Length of stay in the sanatorium and chance of survival. Of those discharged, 25 per cent returned for further treatment.

Two Constitutional Amendments Introduced At Same Session Of House

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—Constitutional amendments were introduced in the house Tuesday to permit a graduated income tax and the re-election of governors. The measures were sponsored by Rep. J. P. Moran (D) Allegheny and were referred to committee for study. Before becoming law they must be approved by two successive general assemblies and the electorate.

The constitution now permits only a flat income tax. Governors cannot succeed themselves although they may be elected again after having been out of office. Moran's measure would restore the practice in vogue in the state before enactment of the present constitution. A bill designed to eliminate toll bridges was jointly sponsored in the house of Reps. W. Sharp Fullerton (R) New Castle and E. Y. Calvin (R) Beaver Falls. It would increase from $30,000 to $300,000 the value of toll bridges which can be purchased by the State Department of Highways.

A measure was also introduced in the House by Reps. Arthur P. Brethrick (R) Delaware and Harry P. O'Neill (D) Lackawanna to change the name of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps to State Guard. When the legislature reconvened last night after a four-day recess, more than three-score bills were introduced.

Stock Market Is Irregular

Fractional Declines In Some Stocks During Trading Of Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The stock market declined fractions to around a point today in trading that was lively for a time.

Weakest issues were chemicals, motors, steels and aviation. Losses of around a point were sustained by Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Douglas Aircraft, American Airlines and Bethlehem Steel. Chrysler fell over a point at its low. U. S. Steel held its decline to a small fraction.

Small minus signs were shown by most rails, coppers, rubbers, mail orders, oils and tobacco. J. I. Case lost a point in a soft farm implement division.

Eastman Kodak was a strong exception to the trend, rising a point to 156. American telephone held firm.

The bond market followed stocks downward. Rails were softest.

Grains eased while cotton gained slight ground.

Dr. Galbreath Tells Problems Facing Colleges

Lions Club Members Are Told How War Has Affected Higher Education

How the war is affecting the colleges of the nation was told in an interesting talk given before the New Castle Lions Club at their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday noon in the Castleton, by Dr. Robert P. Galbreath, president of Westminster College.

Because of the tremendous demands by industry in the field of chemistry and science, courses teaching these subjects are in great demand by the student, and more stress is being placed upon mathematics.

Recently, he stated, the students who are on the enlisted reserve were notified to be in readiness for an instant call, and the men who are subject to call, are taking an intensified short course in trigonometry to qualify them for gunnery or officers training. Secretarial courses are filled to capacity at the present time, while the arts are being neglected to a great extent.

The war has revealed that American youth is not the thoughtless individual he has been blamed for being, but is intensely serious about the war and the problems confronting the nation, and is willing to do his part, and that the folks back home have every right to be proud of what they are doing in this war.

A special guest at the meeting was E. Lewis Hough, ensign, stationed at the Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Fla., who is home on leave.

NO. 27 BUSINESS EXPENSE DEDUCTIONS

Expenses deductible in arriving at net profit (or loss) from business or profession (item 9 of return Form 1040) are the normal current costs of running a business or producing income. Such expenses must be distinguished from those incurred for the convenience, comfort or economy of the individual pursuing the business, or in the nature of loans, gifts, capital investments, and the like. The distinction lies in the purpose and nature of the payment, rather than in any account in which it is charged.

Business expenses may include salaries and wages paid, interest on business indebtedness, taxes on business and business property, loss arising from business operations, bad debts arising from sales of services, depreciation, obsolescence or depletion, and rents, repairs, and other expenses. Other items includable are management expenses, commissions, labor, supplies, advertising or other selling expenses, and insurance premiums.

In the case of a professional man, maintenance and repair expense of an automobile used for professional purposes (or that portion of the expense applicable to professional use) is allowable, as well as membership in technical societies, subscriptions to technical journals and current magazines used in the reception room, cost of supplies, and fees paid to other professional men for professional assistance.

If a professional man uses his residence both as office and home, he may deduct the expense applicable to that part used for professional purposes. Expenses not deductible include the cost of books, and the cost of instruments and equipment having a useful life longer than a year (as these are regarded as capital items on which depreciation may be allowable), and membership dues in a purely social club.

Cost of incidental repairs is deductible provided the property account is not increased by such expenditures, but repairs in the nature of replacements, betterments, and improvements are regarded as capital expenditures and are not deductible.

Persons engaged in business or profession may not claim large and extraordinary deductions for business expenses simply because the earnings of the business have rapidly increased. Payments of management salaries, employee bonuses, and advertisement expenses, and the like, will be carefully scrutinized by the Bureau of Internal Revenue to ascertain whether such expenses are ordinary and necessary in carrying on the business, and if found not to be so, are subject to disallowance.

Rickenbacker Flays Labor Absenteeism

Causes "Perpetual Slowdown," Cutting War Production By Ten Percent

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3—Capt. E. V. (Eddie) Rickenbacker charged on Tuesday that the "perpetual slow-down in war industry caused by absenteeism" has cut production ten percent.

Speaking before the Los Angeles Advertising club, Captain Rickenbacker asked all war workers, particularly those in the aircraft industry to cut absenteeism in half.

"It will add sufficient planes and parts to hasten final victory and save the lives of untold thousands of our boys," he said.

"Do not make it necessary to be struck by lightning before understanding your duties to your fellow men and women."

"Do not make it possible, through indifference, complacency, selfishness or greed, to have your homes and cities bombed with thousands of men, women and children blown to bits."

President Praises Clothes-Less WAACs

Reveals Five At Casablanca Conference Were Torpedoed Crossing Atlantic

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—President Roosevelt on Tuesday had a word of praise—and drew a laugh in his telling—for five WAACs who worked throughout the Casablanca conference and who a month before had survived a torpedoing in the Atlantic.

The women: Louise Andrews, Ruth Briggs, Mattie Premette, Martha Rogers and Aileen Premet, arrived finally in Africa without a stitch of clothes whatsoever.

Then, to the accompaniment of prolonged laughter at his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt went on to say that they had no clothes other than what they had on their backs.

The President said that the ship on which the five women were traveling to Europe in December was torpedoed with only two of them able to reach lifeboats and the other three being taken in tow by a British destroyer. Later they arrived safely in Africa.

At the Casablanca conference, they handled the telephone and stenographic work for the staff meetings.

CEREALS

Cereals occupy a very important part of our food material. They supply protein and starch. They are also rich in vitamins. There is a great variety of them. We have wheat, oats, rye, corn and several more.

They can be made into such a great variety of eatables that the number is almost unbelievable. The vitamins are mostly in the kernel or germ of the grain. Often in the grinding or processing of the cereal this part is removed. A considerable loss occurs.

If the cereals can be prepared so that nothing is lost they are very valuable. Rolled oats and cracked wheat are perfect good examples of ways in which they may be prepared. The vitamins are preserved properly in these foods. They serve a very useful purpose.

They supply chemicals and calories and vitamins. They taste good too.

Sentence Is Twelve Weekends In Jail

Judge Changes Sentence Of Mother Of Five From Thirty Days To Twelve Weekends

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3—Mrs. Anna Panetta, mother of five children ranging in ages from two to 13 years, must spend her next 12 weekends in jail.

Judge L. Stauffer Oliver originally sentenced Mrs. Panetta to 30 days as a member of the election board which certified false returns in the recent election. She had spent six days in jail when the judge learned ed of her children and that she was needed at home. Calling the woman before him on Tuesday, Judge Stauffer told her:

"I am not going to reduce your sentence for I believe that anybody who violates our election laws should go to jail."

He then ordered her to spend each Saturday and Sunday henceforth in county prison "until you have served your full term."

Button, Button...

It happened one night in a big hotel which had been taken over by the Air Corps. Major C. P. M. had lost a button off his cuff. Now the Major can hit a building with a bomb at 10,000 feet, but he can't thread needles worth a nickel!

Fortunately, help was not far away. Down to the switchboard operator went the Major. Into the needle went the thread and the button was soon on the cuff.

"Thank you, Miss," said the Major.

"You're welcome, sir!" said the Bell girl. "It's a pleasure to help the Army."

One way we can all help the Army is by buying War Bonds. Another way is this: keep your telephone calls to the minimum. Make fewer calls. Keep them brief! Give vital war calls a clear track and a green light all the time. The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.
